

EDUCATIONAL FREEDOM

THE RIGHT TO CHOOSE

Every child is unique, and their education should be too. The current government-run education system forces a one-size-fits-all model that fails millions of students. Parents—not politicians—should have the power to decide what type of education best suits their child, whether it's homeschooling, private school, charter school, or innovative new learning models.

- ✓ States with school choice programs see higher student performance and satisfaction.
- ✓ Every child is unique, and their education should be too. School choice empowers families to find the best fit.
- ✓ Your tax dollars should follow the student, not be trapped in failing schools.

THE LIBERTARIAN SOLUTION

The U.S. Department of Education has spent billions while student performance has stagnated or declined. It's time to return education decisions to states, local communities, and—most importantly—parents. Decentralizing education puts students first and ensures that schools are accountable to families, not politicians and special interests.

- ✓ Homeschooling & microschools are thriving
- ✓ Federal overreach is failing our students
- ✓ Teachers deserve to choose how they teach students

Taxpayers fund education to help children learn—not to protect bloated bureaucracies. By prioritizing school choice, we can create a competitive marketplace of education that improves quality, innovation, and affordability for all families.
